DEDICATION

With fond admiration and appreciation for the many years of loyal service and inspiration to the youth of Central High School District, we the class of 1950, do hereby dedicate this, the first issue of Highlights Of Central to Mr. William M. Reinhardt our principal.

---

Our school is comparable to a machine. Once, not too long ago, it was a comparatively small one with a relatively small job to do, but within the past few years, decided changes have come about in the work this machine has to do.

Central has definitely grown. This year five hundred fifty-eight students entered her portals. Our school has endeavored to meet the needs of its students. It will continue to do so as the years go by.

To each of us this book should have the same significance. When our school has become much greater and an almost unrecognizable institution, we shall have the memories of this year, memories that can never be erased because of this book. A glance through these pages will keep our hearts aglow and our dreams ever cherished. We can never forget the Central High we knew in 1950.

CLASS HISTORY

"ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE, AND ALL THE MEN AND WOMEN MERELY PLAYERS."

One bright morning in September, about four years ago, a starry-eyed group of youngsters decided that they would like to go on the stage. To the casual eye of the observer, these youngsters seemed merely a group of ordinary girls and boys well dressed, reasonably good looking and badly frightened. But to the trained eyes of the dauntless and experienced explorers, these strangers seemed distinct and widely separated individuals, each possessing aptitudes and talents. deficiencies and capabilities decidedly worth finding out. Gently attempting to dispel the fears of the strangers, the faculty bade them enter and spent the next few weeks attempting to gain their confidence and friendship. They succeeded after great difficulty in accomplishing this.

During this year, our class officers were as follows: President, Gertrude Lewis; Secretary, Queen Johnson; Treasurer, Mr. Harris; Reporter, Ruby Moses. During the year, we presented a one-act play, entitled "Who Murdered Who" under the sponsorship of Mr. Greenville Harris.

Our second year we advanced to property managers. The routine of the class room was now familiar and we found studying easier than before. The Sophomore Class organization was as follows: President, Rosalie Smith; Secretary, Dorothy Hall; Treasurer, Mr. Harris; Reporter, Ruby Moses. The talents discovered the previous year were developing rapidly, and the exploring teachers found much to please them, but also much to displease them. Our hit for the school year was the one-act play entitled "Rumors Wanted."

Our next promotion put us in our Junior year. We had looked forward to this because being a junior would make us feel that gradually our high school days were coming to a close. Our officers were as follows: President, Gertrude Lewis; Secretary, Annie Adams; Treasurer, Mr. Harris; Reporter, Ruby Moses. We were under the supervision of Mr. Harris, with Mrs. T. J. Ware as assistant. Our class chose as its class colors, blue and yellow; class flower, sweet pea; class motto, "Success Awaits at Labor's Gate." As a class project, we sponsored a Baby Contest which was a great success. It was also during this year that our class raised the most money in the school's Lunch Room Project, for which we received a prize. The most outstanding event of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, which proved to be quite a success, thanks to the untiring efforts of each junior in putting the work over.

Finally, we reached the goal for which every junior had been striving; that of Dignified Seniors. We feel as though we are kings and queens in shining armour. We are striving to make this year the most joyous and happiest ever. Our class officers are as follows: President, Gertrude Lewis; Secretary, Annie Adams; Treasurer, Mr. Harris; Reporter, Ruby Moses. Mr. Harris is still the pilot of our class and we believe that we would not have attained the success that we have attained without his guiding hand. Already by request, we have presented our sophomore one-act play entitled "Rumors Wanted" at Central Hi and Pikeville Training School. The greatest event of our class thus far has been winning the prize for having raised the most money on the school's Bus Drive Project. This bus is for the purpose of transporting pupils on extra-class activities.

We have diligently labored four years and in accord with our motto - "SUCCESS AWAITS AT LABOR'S GATE," we have now achieved success.

CLASS PROPHECY

Although it has never been publicly announced, it is generally known that we possess the remarkable power of projecting ourselves forward through the years into any given time in which we are interested. At this time being restless and weary with the chores of the day we long for a change of scenery and time.

Closing our eyes and relaxing a while, we venture years from now into the library of a town. We find ourselves in the reference room of the magnificent new building. As we glance at the shelves, our eyes are attracted by a thin blue book. Taking it down, we find the title is "Who's Who and Why?" Glancing through its pages, we see-

Annie Adams, as a matron in some college, having a hard time carrying out her rules, because she is always breaking them herself.

Willie Mae Baker in Paris, France, designing dresses for herself alone.

Gladys Best, as a nurse in some state hospital with fifty patients to care for. They will worry her so badly until finally she will go crazy.

Gertrude Best, as one of the most outstanding pianists in the world, with "Mummy Sent Me To School One Day" as her theme song.

Iola Best, a beautician in Concord, Maine, burning up some young Lady's hair.

Charlie Best, as a railway clerk with his business all turned up.

Thelma Coley, as a nurse, yet afraid of dead people.

Jessamine Carroll, as one of the best dressed women in the world, wearing many different types of furs.

Valethea Davis, the ugliest movie star in Hollywood with beautiful hair styles.

Dorothy Hall, as a dress designer in Seine, France, designing short clothes for tall people.

Margaret Horner, a dress designer in California, making more money as a comedian than as a dress designer.

Queen Johnson, as a private nurse for the DuPont family - giving black pills for the headache.

James Kornegay, a pharmacist, mixing medicines to cure the sick, but killing instead.

Eula Lewis, a waitress in a hotel, unable to set a table.

Gertrude Lewis, as a teacher in Africa, throwing children in all directions.

Ethel Martin, as a nurse in Hollywood, pacing from room to room.

Ruby Moses, not knowing any music, yet directing a hillbilly chorus.

Lucille Sutton, a soft-hearted elementary teacher with tears in her eyes, because she'll never learn how to keep her pupils quiet.

Ruby Swinson, as a science teacher, yet afraid of all insects.

Marion Smith, a radio technician in Tokyo, Japan, repairing no one's radio but his own.

Alethea Whitfield, as one of the most prominent business women in the world. She still has no companion.

Ralph Whitfield, a mailcarrier, running everybody's business but his own.

Edna Ward, as a dress designer in Utah. She has almost decided to return to the farm.
